CAPTAIN GUILD'S LUCKY ESCAPE. He is Carried Overboard by a Sea and

He is Carried Overboard by a Sea and Thea Washed Hack Again.

Halipar, Sept. 3.—The British steamer Cyprus, Captain E. Gulid, with a cargo of phosphate rock, bound from Fernandiana, Fla., via Norfolk, to Rotterdam, put in this morning, after leaving Fernandiana on August 18 and Norfolk on the 22. On Wednesday last a strong seasterly wind was encountered which culminated towards the next morning in a fearful hurricane with tremendous seas. About 10:30 p. m., when 100 miles northwest of Cape Hatteras, an immense wall of water boarded the Cyprus on the starboard side, carried away all the boats, tore the chart house from the deck and carried it overboard. A sailor, named John Nelson, was thrown down and injured. Captain Gulid was in the chart house when it was washed away, and he went overboard with it. A lee sea washed him on board again almost immediately. He was badly cut about the face and body. The captain did not see the wave, but the chief officer says it was biger than any wave he had seen in 30 years' experience.

A large quantity of water went down the hold and smashed the engine room platform, and the wind blew all the standing sails to tatters. Oil was poured overboard around the ship, which was laid to.

ng sails to tatters. Oil was poured overboard around the ship, which was laid to. The oil, the captain thinks, prevented other seas breaking over her. An effort was made to reach New York, but the wind was blowing a gale from the west. which raised too heavy a head sea to at-tempt to stem it. Halffax was therefore headed for. Temporary repairs will be made here and the vessel will proceed.

A Negro Treed by Bloodhounds. CADDO, I. T., Sept. 3.—There was an old-time bloodhound black man chase here vesterday morning. Between 1 and 2 eleck a man was seen emerging from a window of the city drug store, and a hasty examination showed that he had stolen at east $1,500 worth of jewelery. United States Deputy Marshals Fryer and Mean were at once notified, and securing half a dozen bloodhounds started them on the trail. Quite a posse joined in the chase. The man had a good start, and was followed over six miles before being overhauled. He climbed a tree out of each of the dogs and surrende

THE STANDARD in a few years has outstripped every competor. No one denies this. The evidence is too strong. On the streets, on the trains, in the homes of Montana you will see three copies of the STANDARD for one of any other newspaper.

Its rivals were in the field years before the STANDARD was thought of, yet they are left in the background.

Surely it must have great merit to establish its supremacy so quickly. Its success has been an incentive to greater endeavor, and every month shows an improvement on the preceeding month. Just as regular has been its gain in patronage, and it has now become the question:

Who Does Not Read

THE STANDARD?

These are the people we are after. Can there be any person in Montana who is yet ignorant of its superiority as a newspaper? If such there be, let him send for a sample copy and compare it with any other paper in the Northwest. He will then be prepared to send in $10 for a year's subscription and may reach the publishers by addressing
